*Spécial architecture
contemporaine de Saragosse*

L'architecture contemporaine à Saragosse se distingue par des réalisations spectaculaires issues de l'Exposition Internationale de 2008, comme le Pavillon-Pont de Zaha Hadid et la Tour de l'Eau, et, en ville, avec des joyaux comme la CaixaForum et le IAACC.

Autrement dit, l'expo. de 2008 a été le départ d'une recherche d'architecture avant-gardiste, spectaculaire, voire carrément futuriste.

Et puis on a assisté à une sorte d'épuisement dans la créativité et l'aspect de l'architecture à Saragosse est devenue de moins en moins innovante voir ordinaire et sans personnalité, dans le banal de la construction de ces tours de béton et verre dont les formes rectilignes n'ont rien de remarquable... Je n'en ferai pas référence ici.

Je ne montrerai pas (ou peu) ici les édifices dans leur aspect général pour éviter les poncifs à voir sur internet, privilégiant les formes et les couleurs et les détails, des images les rendant encore plus artistiques (à mon avis !).

Car tout le monde peut voir dans le Parc de l'Eau : Le pavillon d'Aragón de 2008 :

LE PONT DU TROISIÈME MILLÉNAIRE,

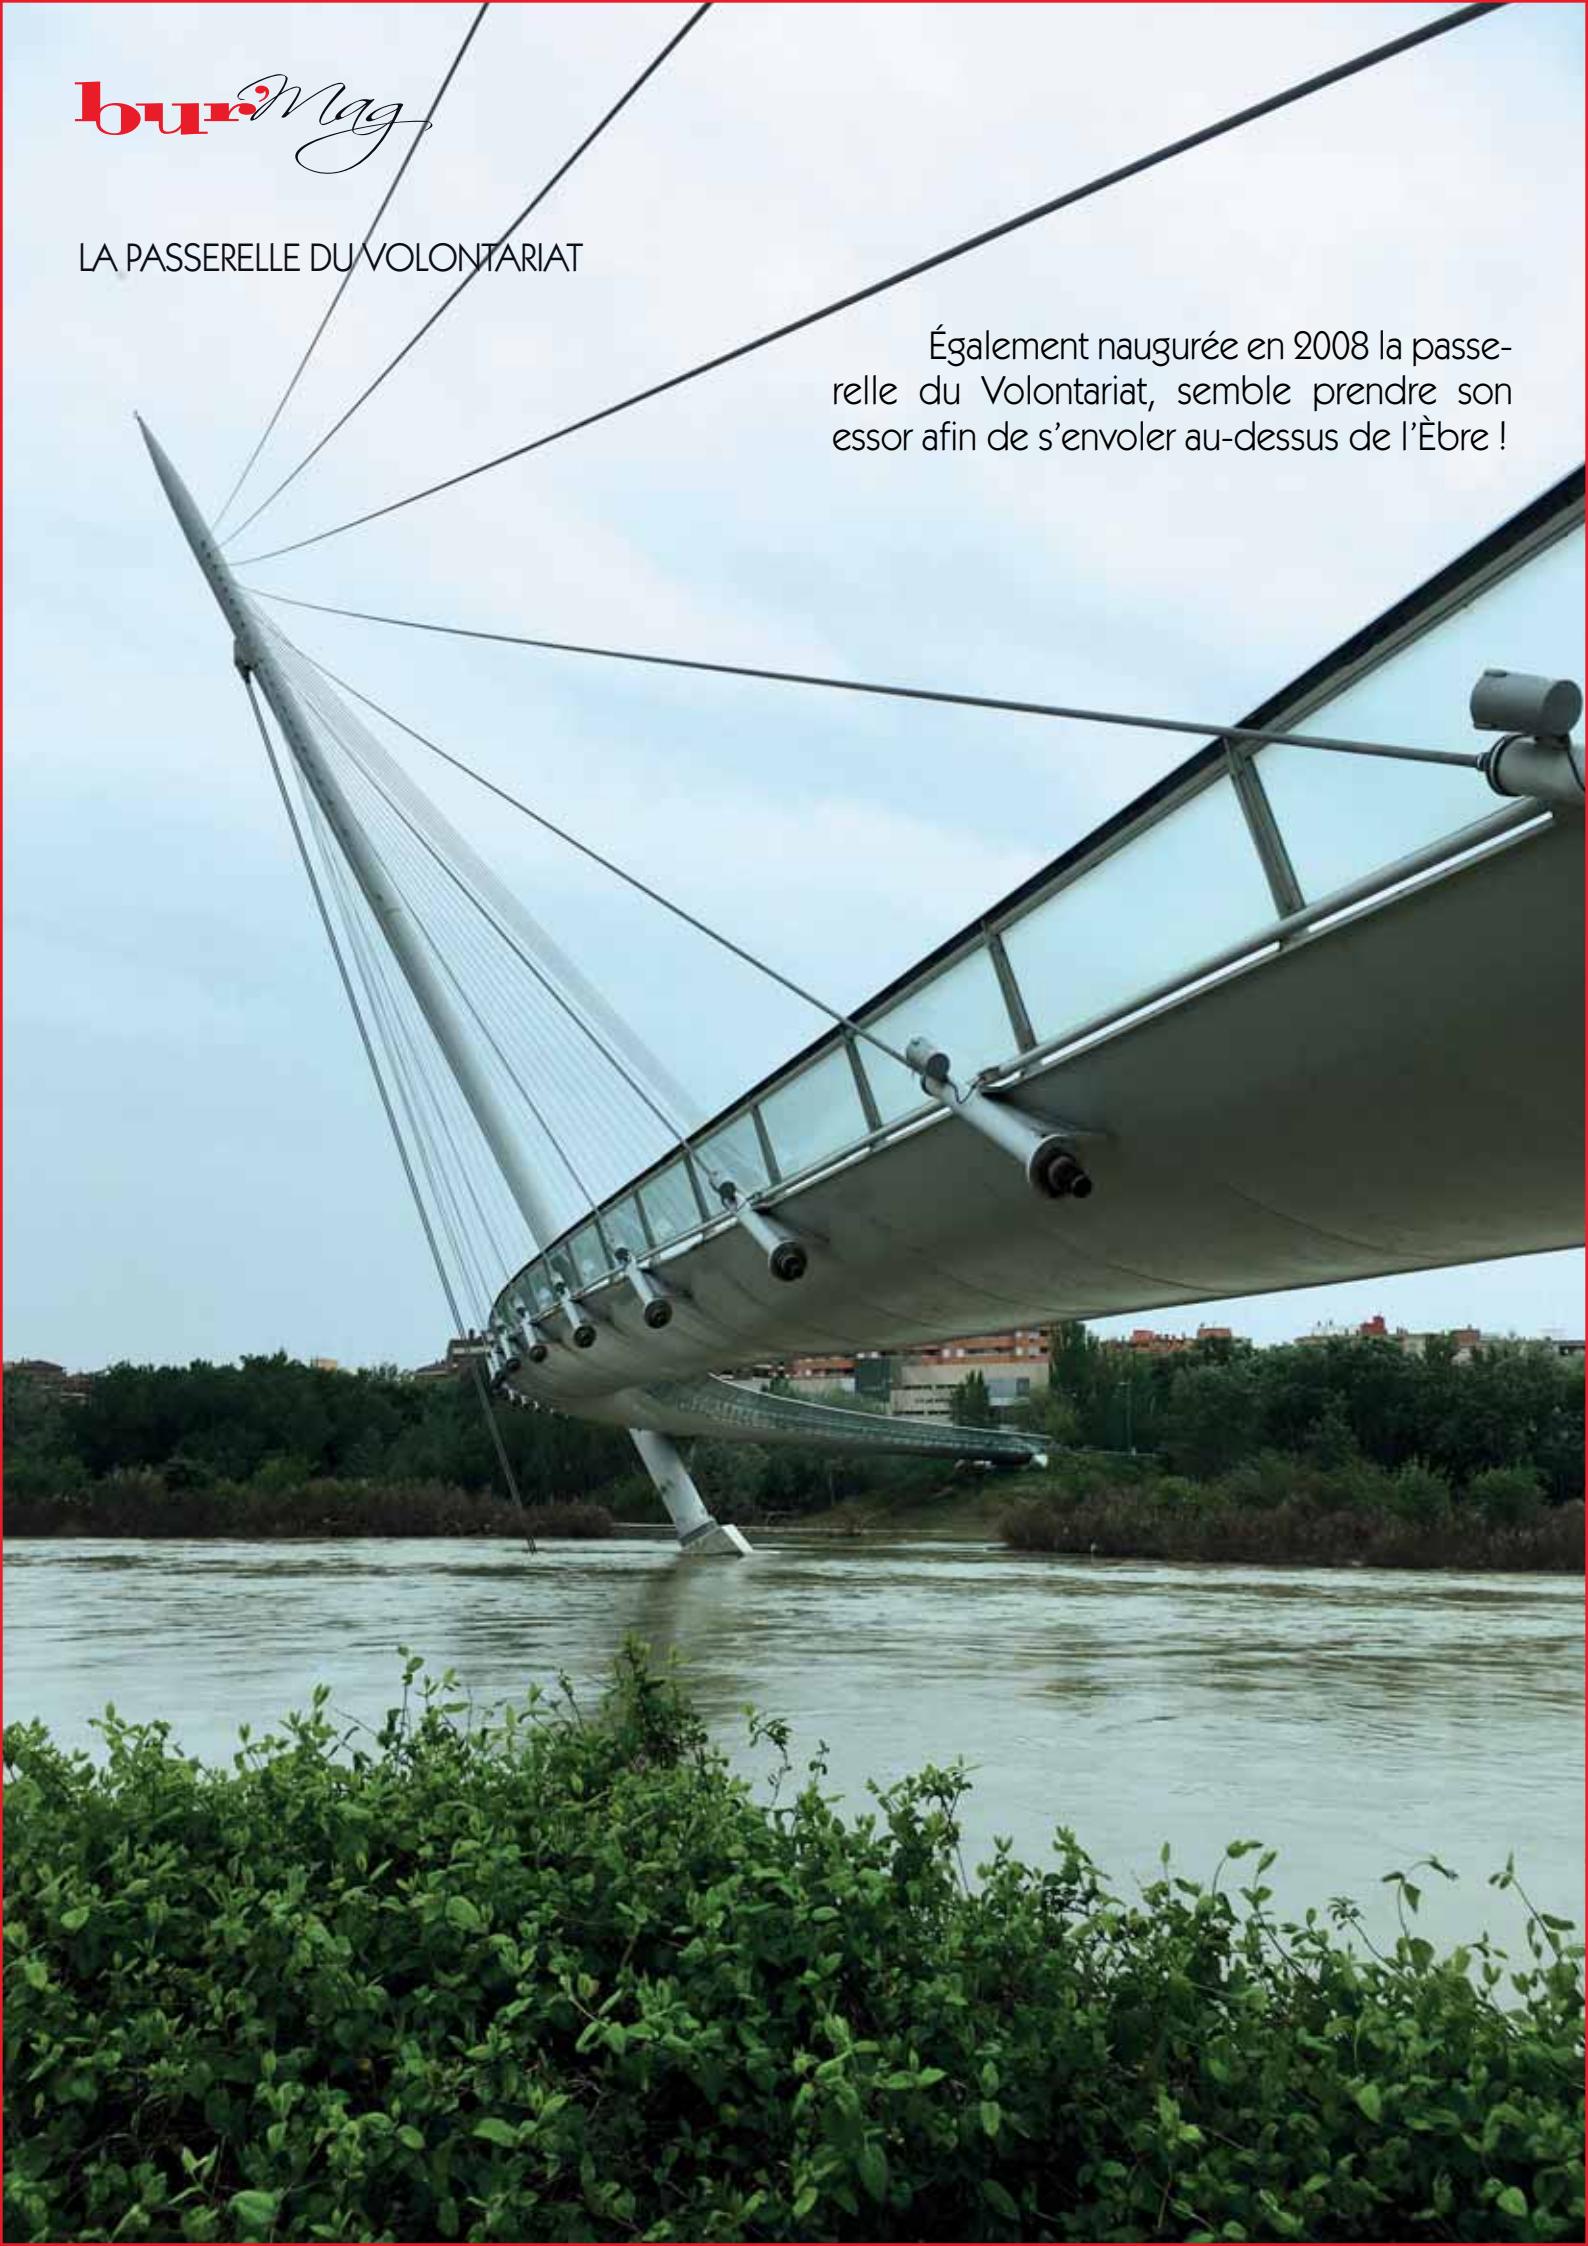

Inauguré en 2008 lors de L'Expo. internationale, le Pont du Troisième Millénaire, relie la zone ouest de Delicias au centre du parc de l'Eau :

LA PASSERELLE DU VOLONTARIAT

Également inaugurée en 2008 la passerelle du Volontariat, semble prendre son essor afin de s'envoler au-dessus de l'Èbre !

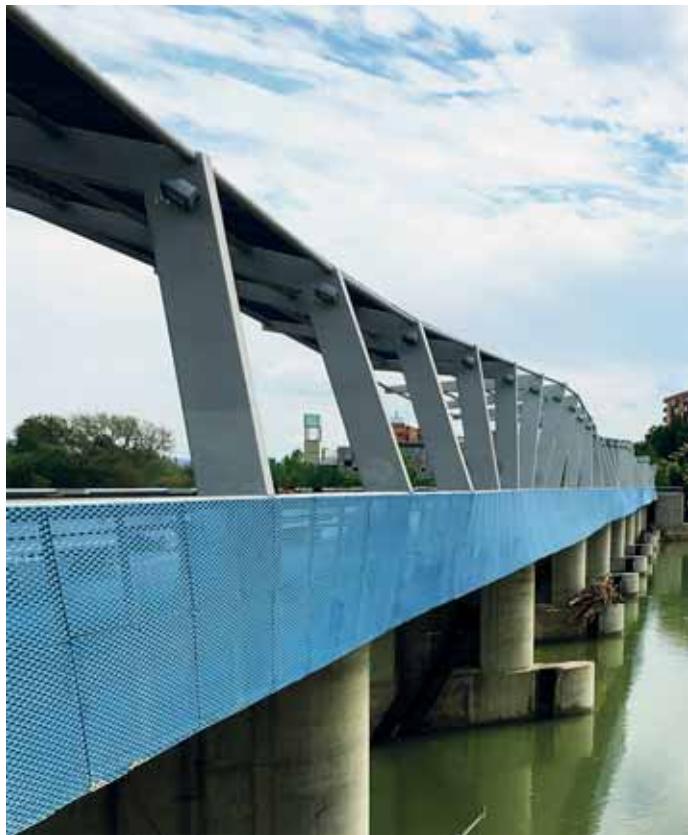

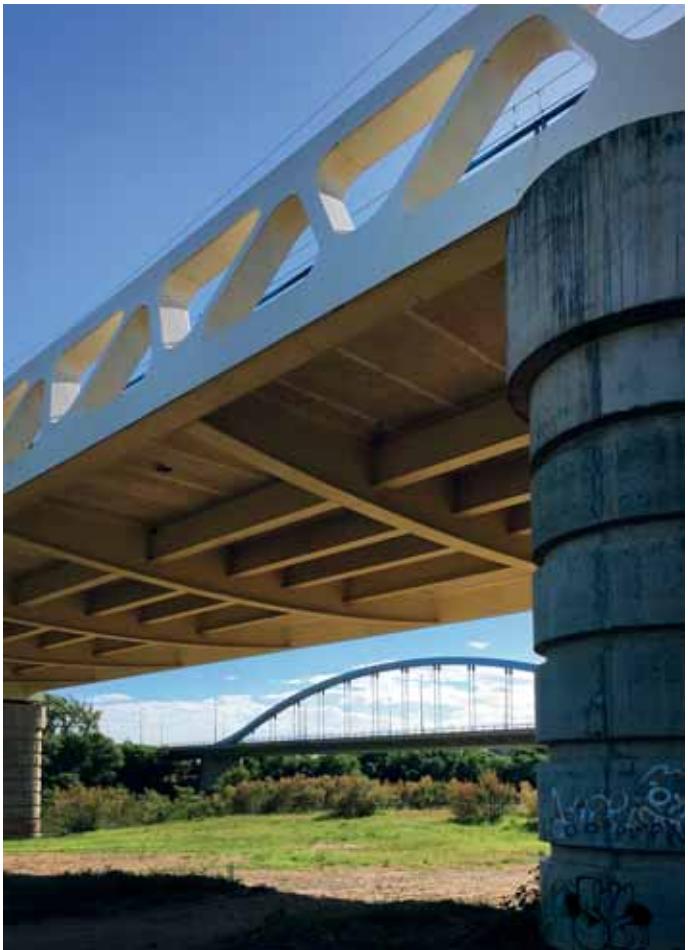

LA PASSERELLE DU BICENTENAIRE
dernier pont sur l'Èbre en aval de Saragosse, construit en 2008

Un autre pont construit aussi en 2008 :
LE PONT-PASSERELLE EL AZUD

LE PONT MANUEL GIMENEZ ABAD (2002)

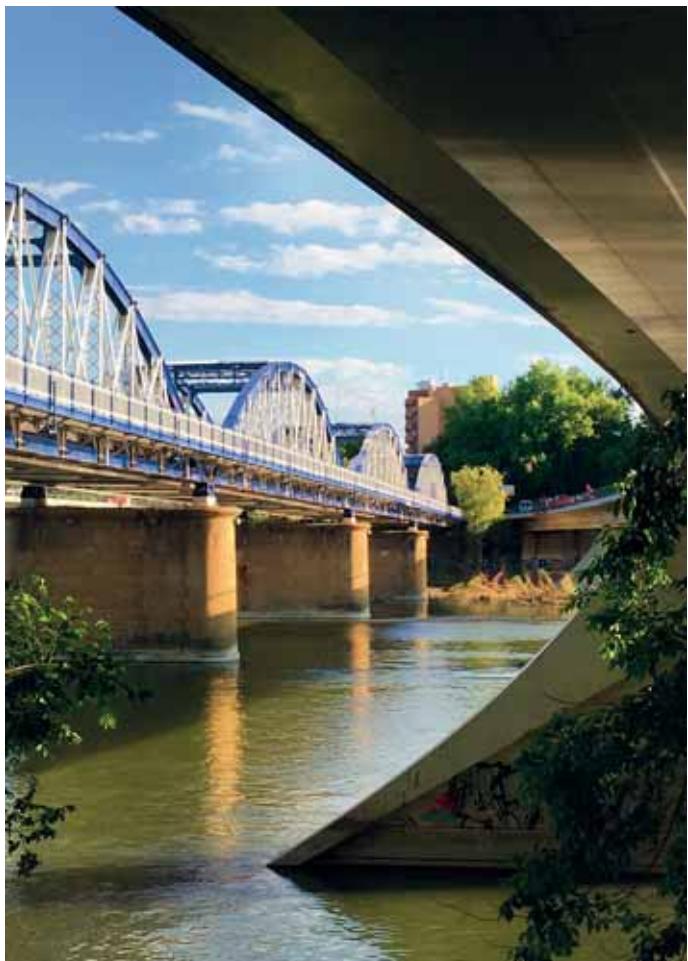

Divers ponts de constructions récentes (XXème siècle) :

LE PONT DE LA UNIÓN-1988

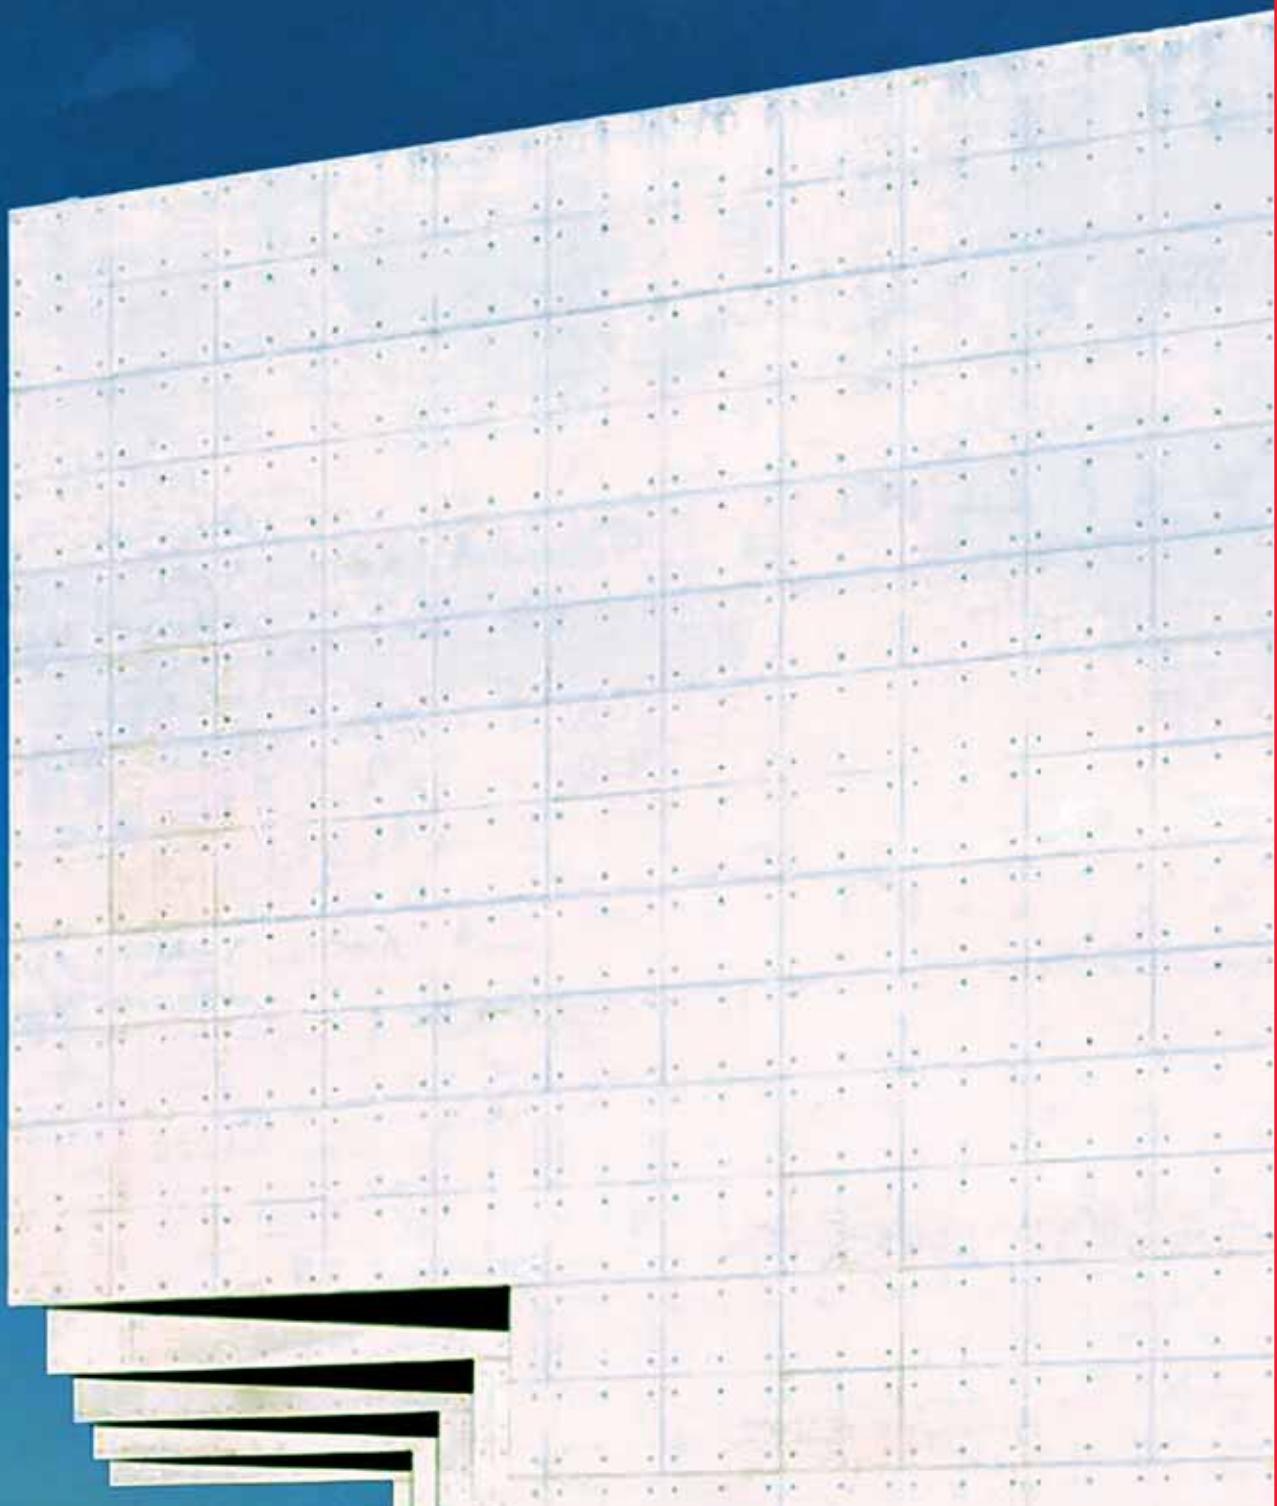

LE PONT DEL PILAR-1990

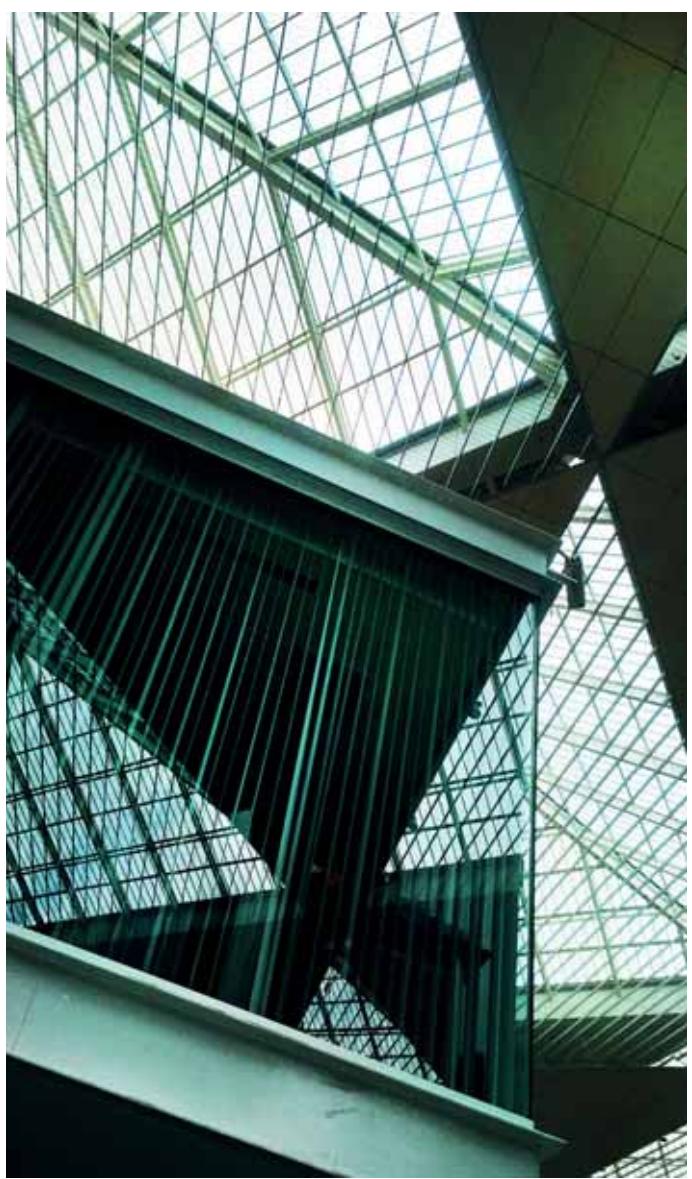

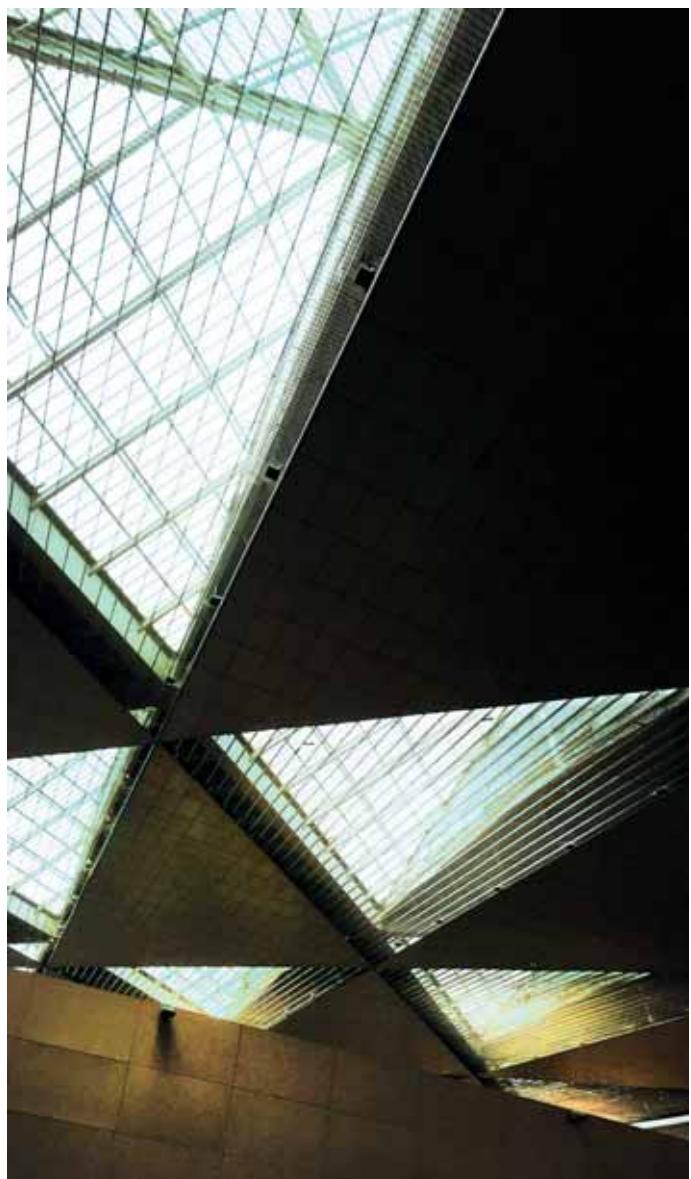

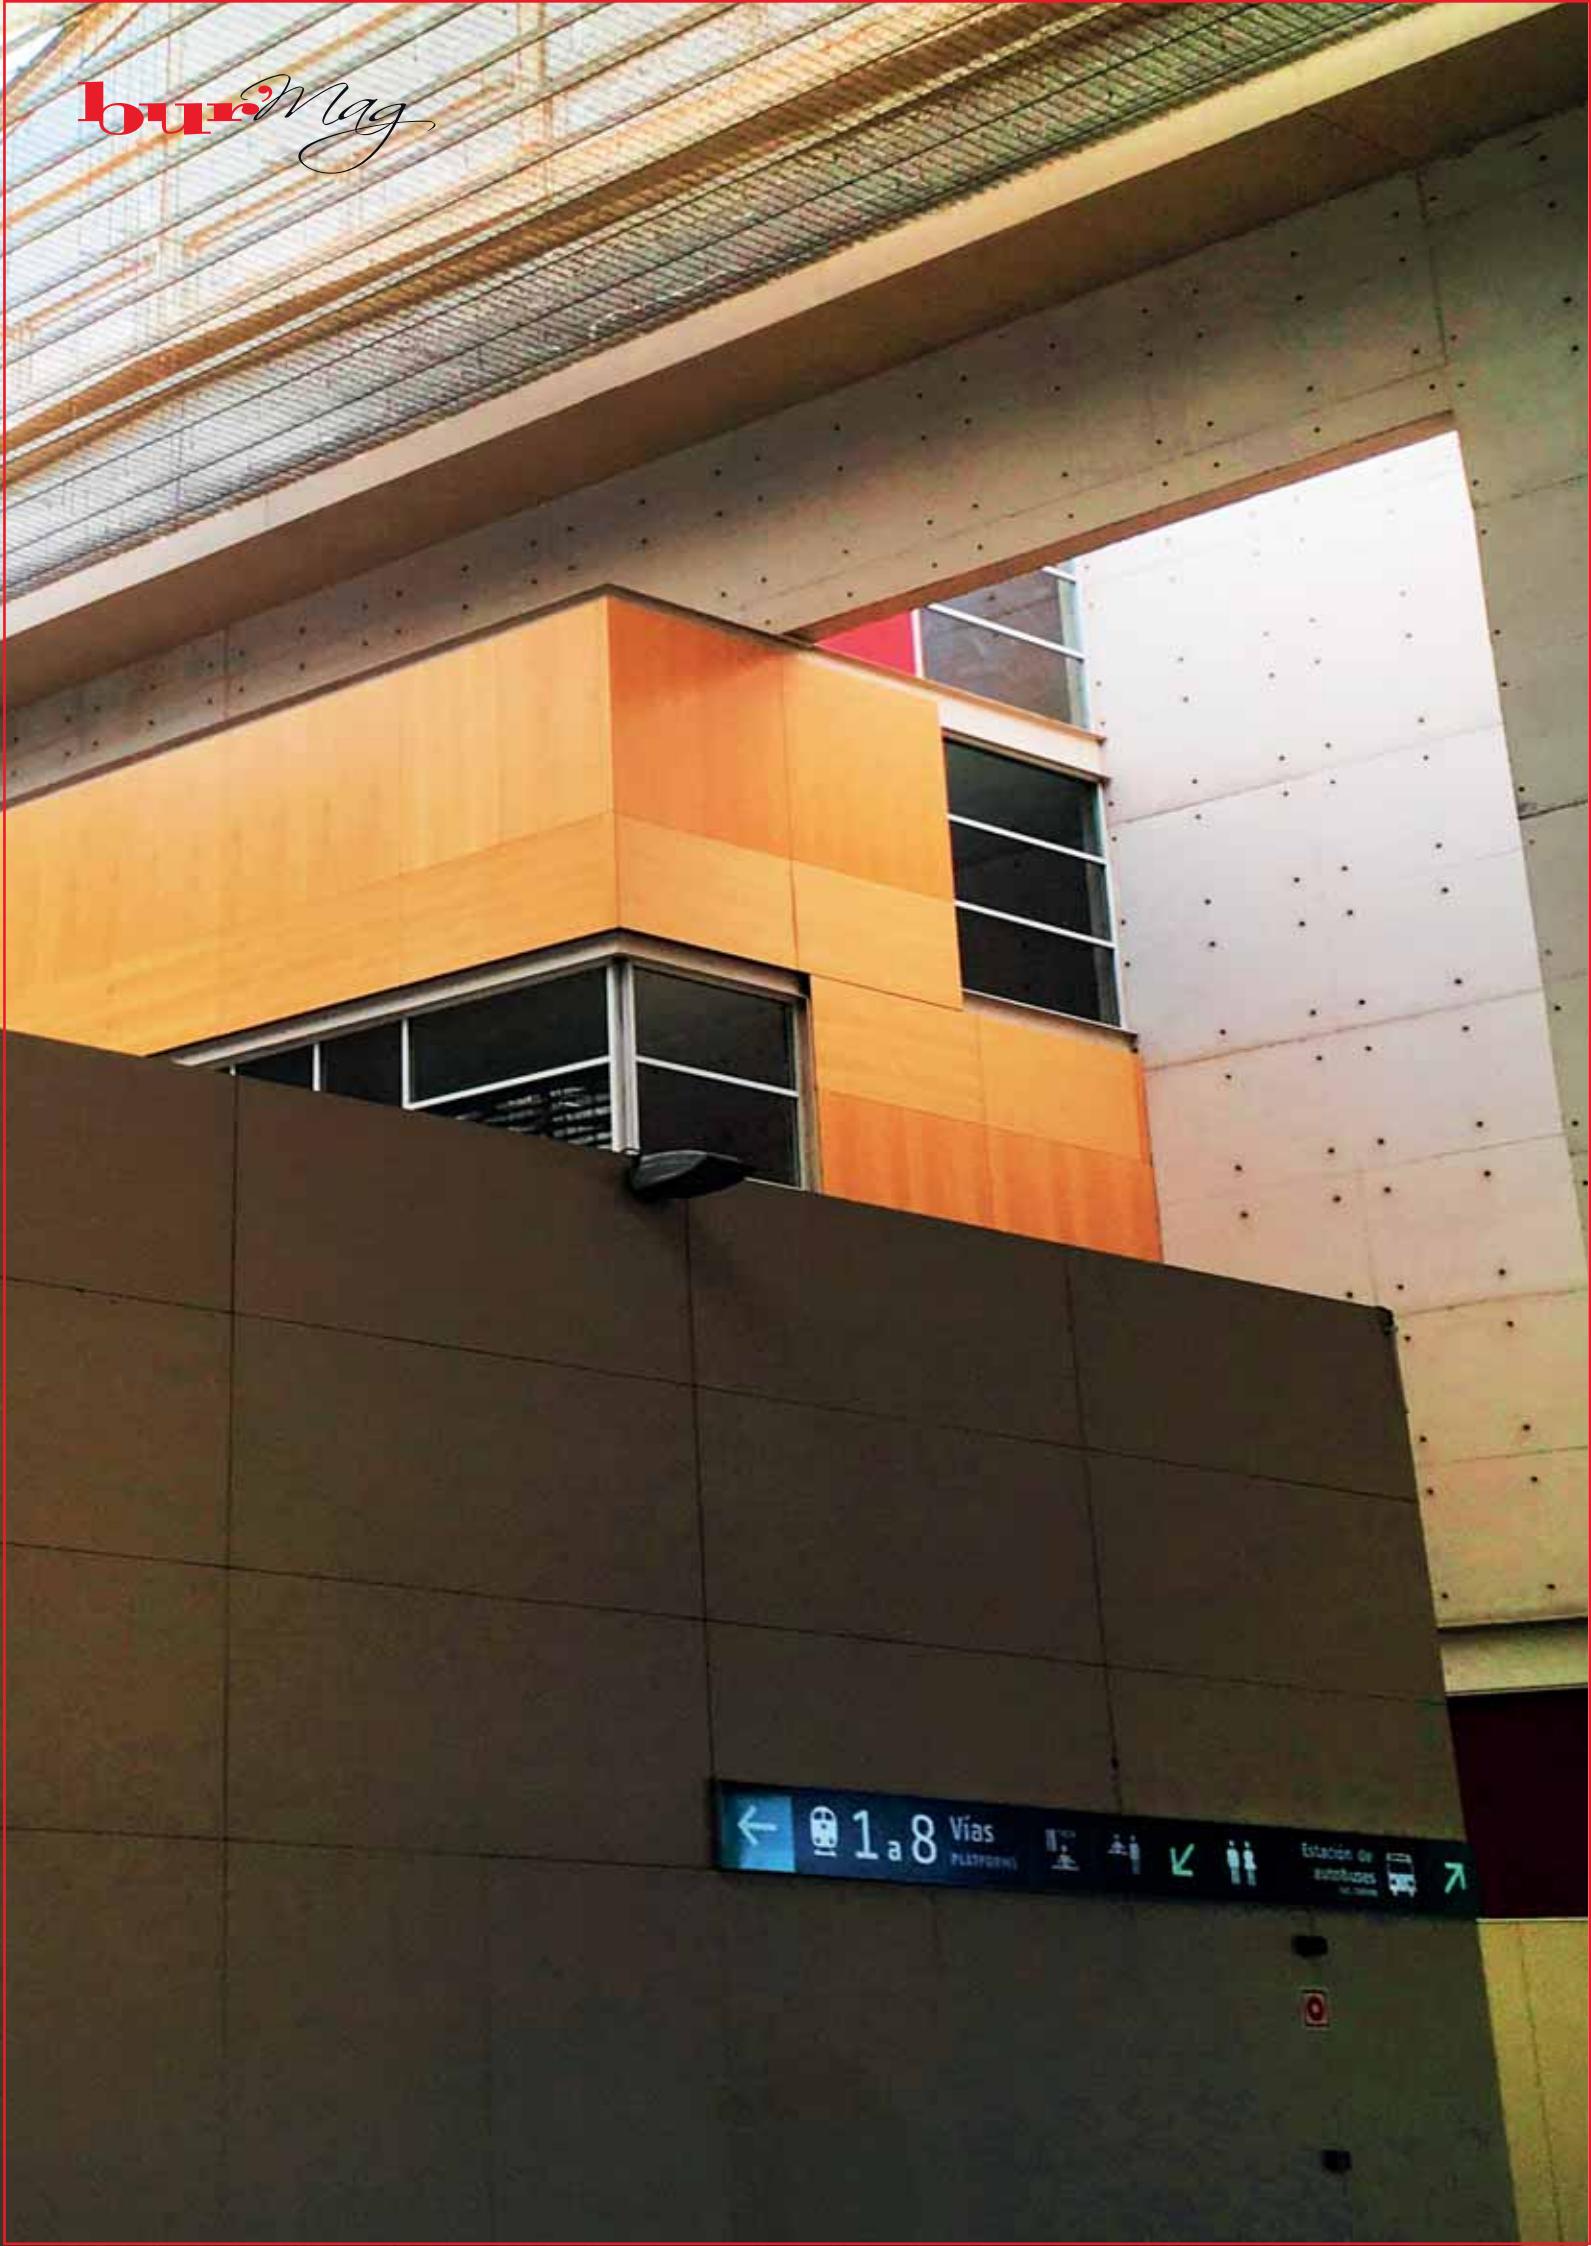

LA PASSERELLE DE DELICIAS construite en 2008 n'enjambe pas l'Èbre mais se met à genoux sur l'autoroute Est afin de relier la gare Delicias au parc de l'Exposition
